

MODERN SLAVERY REPORT (2024)

PEYTO EXPLORATION & DEVELOPMENT CORP.

MODERN SLAVERY REPORT (2024)

1. Introduction

This report (the "Report") is made jointly by Peyto Exploration & Development Corp. and its wholly owned subsidiaries (together referred to as "Peyto", or the "Company") pursuant to Canada's Fighting Against Forced Labour and Child Labour in Supply Chains Act (the "Act"). This Report constitutes Peyto's forced labour and child labour annual report for the financial year ended December 31, 2024.

2. Steps to Prevent and Reduce the Risks of Forced Labour and Child Labour in 2024

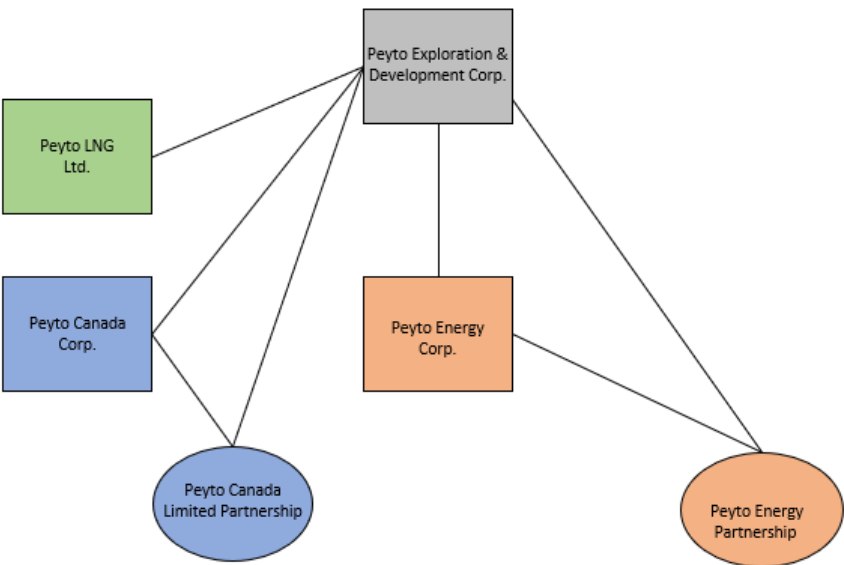

In 2024, Peyto introduced a Supplier Code of Conduct to prevent and reduce the risk of forced labour and child labour in its business and supply chains.

3. Corporate Structure, Business Operations and Supply Chains

Corporate Structure

Peyto is an independent, publicly traded, Canadian energy company that is headquartered in Calgary, Alberta. Peyto trades on the Toronto Stock Exchange under the symbol "PEY".

The Company's corporate structure in 2024, prior to the dissolution of Peyto Energy Partnership on December 31, 2024, included the following entities:

In 2024, Peyto was comprised of a nine-person Board of Directors and a six-person management team.

Business Operations

In 2024, Peyto Exploration & Development Corp. and its two operating subsidiaries, Peyto Energy Partnership and Peyto Canada Limited Partnership, concentrated on the exploration, development, and production of high-quality, long-life gas reserves in the west-central region (Deep Basin) of Alberta. Peyto LNG Ltd., Peyto Canada Corp., and Peyto Energy Corp. are subsidiaries of Peyto Exploration & Development Corp., which are holding companies that do not have current operations.

On December 31, 2024, the Company streamlined its corporate structure with the dissolution of Peyto Energy Partnership, and on January 1, 2025, Peyto Energy Corp. was amalgamated with Peyto Exploration & Development Corp.

As at December 31, 2024, Peyto had 87 employees in the Calgary office and 53 employees in the field. Contract operators are retained for a portion of field operations.

A complete description of Peyto's properties and operations is provided in its annual information form for the year ended December 31, 2024, which can be accessed on the Company's website at www.peyto.com or on SEDAR+ at www.sedarplus.ca.

Supply Chain Management

The Act requires Peyto to report on activities that relate to the production, sale, and distribution of goods, both in and outside of Canada, and any importation of goods into Canada. The Company procures goods and services from a range of third parties, primarily related to oil and gas resource development, and enters into vendor contracts in accordance with Peyto's policies and procedures. Peyto primarily engage with Canadian-based suppliers to enhance efficiency and control costs, while maintaining a small number of U.S. and international suppliers. Goods sourced from the U.S. and internationally are typically limited to facility components, engines, compressors, parts, valves, fittings, and line pipe.

Peyto's vendor engagement strategy is centered on its dedication to safety, cost-effective and innovative solutions, excellent service delivery, and the maximization of economic benefits and employment in the communities where it operates. It is also important that the Company's vendors offer opportunities with locally owned businesses to support local employment. These criteria play a crucial role in Peyto's vendor selection process and competitive tender evaluations.

4. Policies and Due Diligence Processes

Policies

As part of its commitment to the policies and standards set by the Peyto Board of Directors and management, Peyto strives to partner with staff and contractors who share the Company's commitment. Peyto's policies, which reflect its commitment to ethical business practices and a work environment that fosters mutual respect, open communication, and integrity, consistent with the expectations and plans of the Company, are published on the Corporate Responsibility page of the Company's website. Peyto's relevant policies are listed below:

- Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (the "Code"): Pursuant to the Code, all employees, officers, contractors, consultants, and directors must respect and obey the laws of the cities, provinces and countries in which it operates and avoid even the appearance of impropriety. Additionally, the Code sets out a commitment to maintaining a safe workplace by following safety and health rules and practices.
- Whistleblower Policy: This policy provides a mechanism for employees, contractors and stakeholders to anonymously bring forward matters of concern including those associated with forced labour and child labour. Peyto encourages all employees, contractors, and consultants who are performing work for the Company, and other stakeholders who are impacted by the Company's business, to speak up and proactively raise their concerns about potential violations, issues, and concerns. Peyto provides protection from retaliation against Whistleblowers who raise concerns about the Company in good faith. All complaints are dealt with and elevated to the highest levels within the Company.
- Supplier Code of Conduct (discussed in further detail below)

Due Diligence

Peyto does not permit forced labour or child labour in its operations or in its supply chain. The Company has undertaken the following due diligence measures to date.

In 2023, the Company commissioned an advisor to conduct a comprehensive risk assessment report of its supply chain (see below). The suppliers were asked to complete an online questionnaire focused on various areas of potential modern slavery risk and due diligence, including:

- 1) inherent risks in their own operations and their supply chains;
- 2) reports of any incidents of forced labour and child labour; and
- 3) the policies and training they have in place.

Peyto also conducted a review of its own policy framework and commissioned the advisor to develop a Supplier Code of Conduct which expressly prohibits modern slavery in all its forms, as evidenced by the following statement in the policy:

In accordance with Canada's Fighting Against Forced Labour and Child Labour in Supply Chains Act ("Canada's Modern Slavery Act"), Peyto prohibits the use of forced labour and child labour in any form. In compliance with Canada's Modern Slavery Act, Peyto compiles an annual report on due diligence efforts to identify modern slavery risk, including forced labour and child labour in the supply chain. Peyto expects that suppliers will provide any information required for the Company to report.

The Board of Directors has been briefed on and approved all aspects of this work including this Report, as required by the Act, prior to the mandatory reporting deadline.

5. Forced Labour and Child Labour Risks & Steps Taken to Assess and Manage Risks

The key findings of Peyto's 2023 supplier risk assessment are addressed below.

- Direct Operations: Peyto's operations are based almost entirely within Canada. Canada is considered a low-risk location for forced labour and child labour, and its products are also low-risk.
- Supplier Operations: Based on the results of the risk assessment, the Company has determined that there is low inherent risk among its suppliers, with a significant portion of the suppliers having a risk score of zero.

Overall, Peyto's supply chain risk is considered low. No supplier, including those with inherent risks, reported an incident of forced labour or child labour within their operations, or within their supply chain. Compliance with local regulations governing the age of workers is 100 percent among suppliers and within their supply chains. The profile suggests a diligent approach to modern slavery issues among Peyto's suppliers.

There are some suppliers that carry inherent risk in their own operations and supply chains. However, following the risk assessment evaluation, the Company has determined that these suppliers have robust measures in place to identify and remediate such risks. Further, a concentration of risk among a few suppliers can simplify risk management and mitigation efforts, as attention can be focused on this smaller pool.

6. Remediation

Peyto has not encountered instances of forced labour or child labour in the supply chain and, as a result, no remediation measures have been applied.

7. Remediation for Loss of Income

Peyto has not encountered instances of forced labour or child labour in the supply chain and, as a result, no remediation for loss of income to vulnerable groups has been necessary or applied.

8. Staff and Executive/Board Training

Peyto is considering options for staff training on forced labour and child labour, including in-person and online modular courses.

9. Assessing the Effectiveness of Our Actions

Based on the risk assessment conducted, and the responses obtained from suppliers, Peyto believes its supply chain risk is low. Peyto's Board of Directors is apprised on an ongoing basis regarding actions to identify and mitigate risk; forced labour and child labour have been added to this oversight.

The Company has reviewed the Act and its implications for Peyto, and it is committed to reviewing its policies and practices on a regular and ongoing basis.

10. Looking Forward

The Company will continue to collaborate with suppliers identified and will assess opportunities to enhance its annual approach to modern slavery risk disclosure. Other measures which may add value to this effort will be considered and presented to Executive Management and the Board of Directors as Peyto develops a clearer picture of any future challenges that may arise.

11. Approval and Attestation
